

GENERAL TENANCY AGREEMENT

for letting a residential dwelling

Important Notes for Tenants

- This tenancy agreement is a legal and binding contract and the Tenant is responsible for payment of the rent for the entire agreed term. The agreement may not be terminated early unless the agreement contains a break clause, or written permission is obtained from the Landlord.
- Where there is more than one tenant, all obligations, including those for rent and repairs can be enforced against all of the tenants jointly and against each individually.
- If you are unsure of your obligations under this agreement, then you are advised to take independent legal advice before signing.

General Notes

1. This tenancy agreement is for letting furnished or unfurnished residential accommodation excluded from the provisions of the Housing Act 1988 as amended by the 1996 Act. The type of tenancy created will depend on the intents of the parties and the surrounding circumstances. This could be used for company lettings, resident landlords or tenancies with an annual rent exceeding £100,000.
2. This is a legal document and should not be used without adequate knowledge of the law of landlord and tenant. This agreement may be used for residential tenancies of three years or less. Agreements for tenancies of a longer duration should be drawn up by deed.
3. This form should not be used for granting tenancies to existing tenants holding tenancies under the Rent Act 1977 or Housing Act 1980 (regulated tenancies), or other tenancies which were granted before 15th January 1989.
4. Section 11, Landlord and Tenant Act 1985 - these obligations require the Landlord to keep in repair the structure and exterior of the dwelling, and to keep in repair and proper working order the installations for the supply of water, gas and electricity and the installations in the Property for space heating and heating water. Section 9A of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1985 requires the Landlord to ensure the Property is fit for human habitation at the start of the tenancy and during the tenancy.
5. Section 196 of the Law of Property Act 1925 provides that a notice shall be sufficiently served if it is sent by post in a registered letter (if the letter is not returned undelivered) addressed to the Tenant at the Property or the last known address of the Tenant or left addressed to the Tenant at the Property.
6. The Protection from Eviction Act 1977 excludes tenancies where there is a resident landlord or where the landlord has rights to repossess the Property under immigration legislation and in these situations the landlord is not required to obtain a court order to gain possession.
7. Prospective tenants should have an adequate opportunity to read and understand the tenancy agreement before signing in order for this agreement to be fully enforceable.
8. This agreement has been drawn up after consideration of the Unfair Contract Terms Guidance published by the Competition and Markets Authority.
9. Where the tenancy becomes a periodic tenancy at the end of the fixed term either party must give at least 28 days' notice (or one month in the case of a monthly tenancy) in writing to end the tenancy. The notice period must end on the first or last day of a period of the tenancy in accordance with the common law rules and the Landlord's notice must be in a prescribed form.

(7.8) Where the Property has been professionally cleaned at the start of the tenancy, to pay for professional cleaning, where it is required, to bring the Property to that same clean state or condition as it was at the start of the tenancy

8. The Landlord agrees with the Tenant that:

(8.1) The Landlord shall permit the Tenant to have quiet enjoyment of the Property without interruption by the Landlord or his Agent. This does not preclude the Landlord from taking action through the courts should the Tenant fail to pay the Rent due or be in breach of the Tenancy Agreement

(8.2) In the event that the Property is rendered uninhabitable by fire, flood or any other risk which the Landlord has insured, other than where the damage has been caused by the act or omission of the Tenant, his family or his visitors then the parties will consider this agreement as frustrated and terminated subject to the right of the Tenant to recover any rent paid in advance for the period after the termination

9. Forfeiture Provision. Subject to the provisions of the Protection from Eviction Act 1977 the Landlord may end this tenancy and repossess the Property if:

- (a) the Tenant does not pay the Rent (or any part of it) within 14 days of the date on which it is due, whether or not the Rent has been formally demanded; or
- (b) the Tenant does not comply with the obligations set out in this Agreement; or
- (c) the Landlord was induced to grant the tenancy by a false statement

This termination clause operates subject to the proviso that the Landlord must obtain a court order before repossessing the Property

IMPORTANT. Only the Court can order the Tenant to give up possession of the Property unless the Landlord is a resident Landlord (see General Note 6) or has rights to repossess the property under Immigration legislation

10. The Landlord agrees to carry out any repairing obligations as required by section 11 of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1985 and to comply with the obligations under section 9A of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1985 (see note 4)

11. In this Agreement unless the context otherwise requires the following expressions shall have the following meanings:

"The Landlord" includes the persons who during the period of the tenancy have a legal interest in the Property

"The Tenant" includes those who might inherit the tenancy. Whenever there is more than one Tenant all covenants and obligations can be enforced against all of the Tenants jointly and against each individually. This means that any one of the members of a joint tenancy can be held responsible for the full rent and other obligations under the agreement if the other members do not fulfil their obligations

"The Agent" refers to the person or persons appointed by the Landlord to manage the Property and collect Rent, or anyone who subsequently takes over those rights and responsibilities

12. The parties agree:

(12.1) That any notice(s) served on the Tenant to end the tenancy shall be sufficiently served if served at the last known address of the Tenant in accordance with section 196 of the Law of Property Act 1925 - see note 5 (subject to the clause below)

(12.2) That notices and other documents given in connection with this tenancy may be served by email on the Tenant at the email address(es) supplied above. Where this clause applies, any such notice or document will be regarded as received by the Tenant at the start of the next business day after it was first sent. [The Tenant(s) Email may be left blank where the Tenant does not agree to this clause]

(12.3) Whilst the Landlord or his Agent shall make every effort to keep the Tenant's personal details safe and secure, it may be necessary to share such information with certain third parties for the purposes of the management of the tenancy and for the purposes of enforcing any of the obligations of this tenancy agreement. Such third parties include the Home Office, utility companies, maintenance contractors, credit and referencing agencies and debt collection companies. The Tenant's personal data will be disposed of within a reasonable time after the determination of the tenancy. The Landlord or his Agent will not divulge personal contact details to any other third party organisation for marketing purposes without prior approval unless this is necessary to comply with a statutory obligation

13. Special Conditions. The Property is let together with the special conditions (if any) listed in the First Schedule attached hereto
